HERE IS A COMMITTEE.

Antecedents of the Lawyers Who Will Greet President Harrison.

Unpleasant News for Some of the Truck Reviewing Stands.

Gorgeous Supper-Room Decorations at the Metropolitan Annex.

As the time for the opening of the Centennia selebration draws near, the Committee on Plan and Scope find it necessary to hold a daily afternoon session in order to perfect the arrangements, provide for every detail in the ceremonies, and see that nothing occurs to mar the har mony of the grand occasion.

cretary Clarence Bowen knows more than any one else about the original Washingtonian onies, and he has, therefore, been appointed's committee of one to post President Hamilton Fish as to how he ought to behave when he goes down to receive President Harrison at the Wall Street ferry, and also give him a few points relative to his duties at the reception in the Equitable Building.

A number of young gentlemen have also been appointed to represent the escort which attended Washington at the services at St. Paul's Chapel and afterwards proceeded with him to Federal Hall on Wall street, where the inaugural ceremonies took place.

They are Lewis H. Livingston, George Creigh ton Webb, Nicholas Pish, Arthur DeVint and C. B. Bleecker, who are all lineal descendants of the members of Gen. Washington's escort. A special escort has also been provided for the Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, Archbishop Corrigan and Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, who will conduct the literary services at the Sub-Treasury Building. SOME CRUBCH DECORATIONS.

The decorations at St. Paul's Church, Trinity Church and the Sub-Treasury will be an important feature of the celebration. Preparations are being made to have them most elaborate and beautiful.

The decorators have already begun their work, which will not be completed before Saturday, when the finishing touches will be put on.

MAYOR GRANT'S PROCLAMATION.

There is no doubt that Mayor Grant's proclamation to the citizens of New York urging them to adorn and brighten their houses for the occasion, will meet with a prompt and universal

Dealers in flags, busting and other decorative material are doing a rushing business, and in all the dry-goods stores long counters filled with ribbons combining the National colors, red white and blue, are surrounded all the day with crowds of purchasers, for the ladies evidently do not intend to get left when it comes to a question of patriotic adornment. GEN. BUTTERFIELD'S ONEROUS DUTIES.

Gen. Butterfield, the Grand Marshal of the civic parade, is almost overwhelmed with his duties, and the industrial demonstration has so completely outgrown all previous calculations that he now finds himself obliged to cut down the representation of the various organizations which wish to take part in the parade in order to get them all in line.

Applications already in call for 106,000 men besides the three score and more of floats which have been allotted a place in the line.

It is estimated that the line would be more than seventeen miles long under those conditions. The marshal is placed in a decidedly unpleasant position in making the reductions, but it is absolutely necessary, because it would be manifestly impossible to handle such an immense multitude of men in line, and enable the column to pass a given point by daylight.

Gen. Butterfield has issued a number of orders regarding the relative positions of the various organizations in the parade, the distance between the ranks, and regulations for the comfort of the paraders. He has also asked for the co-operation of the poince department in carrying out his plans for making the demonstration a successful one. ALL APPLICANTS CANNOT PARADE.

Gen. Butterfield will also ask Supt. Murray to have all trucks taken from the streets which cross Fifth avenue from Fifty-ninth street to Twenty-third street, on the day of the civil parade, Wednesday, May 1. These streets will be needed that the societies which are to take part in the parade may form in them.

It is probable also that the police will be requested to clear the cross-streets from the Battery to Grand street of trucks or any obstructions that the companies who are to figure in military parade may form in them. If the line of formation should require these streets the permits for truckmen will not be of use on that day. SOME TRUCKS MAY HAVE TO GIVE WAY.

ACTIVITY IN THE METROPOLITAN OPERA-HOUSE.

ACTIVITY IN THE METROPOLITAN OPERA-ROUSE.

The Metropolitan Opera-House is just now the scene of the most busy activity in town.

It is the intention of Ball Manager Stanton to make it the most richly decorated interior ever seen in this country, and an army of workmen are busy'day and night. Every part of the vast auditorium will be hung with brilliantly colored festoons and streamers, interspersed with medallion portraits, shields, gonfalons and cross standards of colors, with wreaths of greens and lavish draperies of flowers.

The boxes to be occupied by the President and other official guests will be distinguished with decorations still more elaborate.

GOOGEOUS SUPPER BOON DECORATIONS.

The walls of the annex which will be used for the supper-room will be wainscoted with mahogany and hung with wine-colored silk plush, divided into panels, in the centre of each of which will be placed an illuminated coat of arms of one of the States of the Union. THE NAVAL DIFFICULTY ADJUSTED.

THE NAVAL DIFFICULTY ADJUSTED.

The difficulty between the Navy Committee and Admiral Porter has been adjusted, and everything is said to be working harmoniously again.

The arrangements for the naval parade have now been nearly completed, and captains of the different classes of vessels which are going to be in line know just what to do. Every vessel which participates must be in line on April 29 at 11.30 A. M. sharp

WAITKIN EXPECTING A HARVEST.

The waiters in the hotels and large restaurants are beginning to make preparations for the big celebration. They look at it entirely from a professional point of view, and have decided that their services are worth $5 a day diffring the Centennial, and propose to demand the increase. Home of them think they ought to get $10 a day.

The death of his father and the necessity of caring for his mother compelled him to resign his commission and return to New York.

In 1864 he was elected Alderman of the Third District, and re-elected in 1866. In 1867 he was elected to the State Senate over three candidates, receiving 733 more votes than the others combined.

In 1869 he was re-elected, again defeating three candidates, The same year he was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention in this city.

Justice Norton is a member of Meade Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, President of the Monticello Club of the Eighth Ward, and the leader of Tammany Hall of the Fifth District.

GLANCES AT THE SLATE.

Gilroy's, Giegerich's and Kenting's Name Believed to Be There.

The slate is being made, and next week it will be known who are the choice of Mayor Grant for the important offices within his gift.

Thousands of applications and recommendations have been received and carefully entered in a book kept for that purpose by the Mayor's confidential clerk, D. J. O'Farrell. This book is annotated showing who is backing the several candidates, and if it were open to public view it would reveal some funny facts.

While the Mayor may have determined in his own mind whom he will appoint, but few are ossitively known to those not in the immediate confines of the inner circle.

It can be stated with almost absolute confidence, however, that Under-Sheriff Thomas F. Gilroy will be the man selected to fight with Commissioner of Public Works Smith for the control of the Department now ruled by him.

This probable appointment was exclusively announced in The Evenino World several months ago

Two other names which are said to have been written on the Mayor's slate with a graver not to be effaced are those of Leonard A. Giegerich, now Internal Revenue Collector, and Warden James P. Keating, of Ludlow Street Jail. These men will be Excise Commissioners.

Upon calling upon Mr. William Steinway, the responsible head of the hone of Steinway & Sous, it was learned that not only was no contribution demanded from the men at their establishment, but the Centennial expenses for music, hanners, fine bats, gioves, cabes, &c., for all their men are to be paid by the Steinways, in addition to the heavy contributions aircady made by the firm to various committees and funds. Mr. Steinway is pleased to say that the United Piano Trades as a body, 3, 200 strong, with best bands and magnificent floats, will be one of the brightest features of the parade, and does not believe that a single piano manufacturer has exacted payment for anything used in the parade. lose their day's wages and subscribe $1.25 each Broadway, Between Park Place and OPERA STAGE. Fourteenth Street, Also to Be Cleared.

Much as the Has Been Wont To. More Tearing Down of Telegraph Poles

To-Day Completes the Work of Destruc-. tion in the Upper Part of Town.

The few last poles and strangling wires induded in Mayor Grant's order of last week were levelled to the ground this morning, and so the first chapter in the crusade against the electric light, telegraph and telephone companies ended. The work was pushed vigorously this morning and both contractors worked on Broadway between Twenty-third and Thirty-third streets. Contractor Hess toppled over ten poles be-and Busbey did the rest. About 9, 30 o'clock the last pole dropped to the ground, and the job was practically ended. ground, and the sob was practically ended.

There are still two poles standing. One is the huge 100-foot stick at the corner of Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, and the other is a few yards away on the latter thoroughfare. Both gangs have been put to work on these, and they will probably be dropped

When His Honor arrived, shortly before 11 o'clock, the young Commissioner immediately corraled him. A short and carnest conversation ensued and then the Commissioner arose with smiling face. This was the result of the con-this settles the question as to whether the wires will go underground or not, for it is plain to be seen that Mayor Grant means business from the word go and will not let up until the city is completely cleared of the poles and wires along the subways.

The new ronte of destruction as laid out in the order will create havor in the telegraph companies, and especially the Western Union.

They have important offices along this ronte, and there is no doubt but that the Subway Commissioners will take great pleasure in snipping their cables.

They have important offices along this route, and there is no doubt but that the Subway Commissioners will take great pleasure in snipping their cables.

It will be noticed also that the electric light wires and poles are not mentioned in the order. This is because the subways are not yet prepared for their reception and, unfortunately, they will be allowed to remain standing.

Contractors Hess and Busby have not inrued in their renorts yet, but they estimate that altogether about two hundred and fifty-five poles of all sizes and descriptions and nearly four hundred and fifty thousand feet of wire have been removed by them in the past week.

This does not include the wires and poles removed by the companies. They have removed about 200,000 feet of wire and in the neighborhood of a hundred poles.

Two more Western Union cables were cut last night just as the men were finishing for the day. One was at 821 Sixth avenue and the other at D00 Sixth avenue.

When this last order is carried out then the work of destruction will probably be carried into the downtown business precincts. There are subways prepared in almost every business street south of Chambers street, and should the Mayor order the wires and poles cut in the vicinity of Wall street, there is no knowing what will happen.

The commanies refuse to place their wires in the trenches on the ground that insulation is impossible because of the steam-heating pipes.

It is impossible to estimate the loss, but it affects us only as to seven small offices between Park place and Canal street. These offices are

'The damage to us, therefore, would not be very great. We have a pneumatic tube above canal street to Fourteenth street in Broadway and no offices between.

'The vital point for us is below Park place. The Mayor and the Board of Electrical Control have not molested us around the general office in this building, 195 Broadway.

'We have a subway built by ourselves in Broadway. But it is useless to us, owing to the nearby presence of the pipes of the steam-heating companies."

THE MAYOR TIED THE KNOT.

MISS SALLIE STEMLER IS NOW MRS. EU GENE CANFIELD.

Mayor Grant experienced a little relief from Centennial business early this afternoon. At eight minutes of one o'clock Mr. Tom Murphy, of "Razzle-dazzle" fame in the "Brass Monkey" troupe, entered the anteroom of the Mayor's office, accompanied by Mr. Otis Harlan, of the same histrionic combina-

Miss Stemler was going to imitate her sister's worthy example, "secompanied" by Mr. Canield,
She smilingly took off a slate-colored wran and appeared in a dainty costume of dark-bine flanned with a deep white collar of embroidery. A toque of blue cloth, with black velvet trimmings, sat jauntily on her short brown curls, and one superb Easter lily rose and fell upon her bosom.

Mayor Grant stood up like a little man, took the ceremonial for this conjuncture in his left hand, and with the right stuck in his tronsers pocket, proceeded to put the two or three momentous questions which result in such a tremendous knot.

The groom and bride each said "I will" clearly, strongly and 'feelingly, and then the Mayor declared them man and wife, shaking them warmly by the hand.

With great abstinence for a young man where a pretty woman's kisses are lawful booty, he abstained from giving Mrs. Caufield the first osculatory salute.

Everybody else hastened to make up for it.

"Kiss her!" said Mrs. Iasigi, sweetly, to the groom, who was standing, slightly overcome with the breathless quickness of the ceremony, and who had just slipped a wedding ring on Mrs. Canfield's tapering third finger.

He did, and then Mrs. Canfield playfully boxed his ears, to show him how a good husband was to be brought up, and immediately supplemented the lesson by another kiss.

After a moment of smiles, talk and getting into wrap: the gay party disappeared.

Mayor Grant was as cool as a cucumber.

"I have married several before since I came into office. I've been around to houses and done it."

Patrick Walsh, an erratic old man, seventy rears of age, who lives in Poughkeepsie, was omplainant in the Tombs Police Court this norning against Saloon-Keeper Henry Kuntz, of morning against Saloon-Keeper Henry Kuntz, or 47 Park Row, whom he accused of robbery,

To Justice Power Walsh said:
"I came from Ponghkeepsie yesterday and dropped into Kuntz's place to get a drink While there some men who were standing at the bar jostled against me and knocked me down.
"Then some one came from behind the bar—
I think it was Kuntz, but am not quite sure—and picked me up. At the same time my pocketbook, containing $32, and my watch and chain were taken from me." were taken from me."

Kuntz denied all knowledge of the robbery, but was held for examination.
